

Certified Dealer Network

Space Planning and CAD Services

Solutions

Creativity and experience in space planning

Clear and accurate plans, drawings, and specifications are key to the success of any furniture project. Herman Miller's Certified Dealer Network has the creativity, skills, experience, and technology to help you achieve your business goals.

Needs research

Our space planning and CAD services start with in-depth research into your requirements for interior space. And since Herman Miller Certified Dealer Network members are electronically linked, we can easily share project knowledge to facilitate the process.

Design proposal

After understanding your needs, we prepare a detailed design proposal that includes furniture selection. Then we produce block diagrams of each floor and create preliminary space plans, typicals, and a product budget.

Tools of the trade

Using state-of-the-art CAD systems, we develop workstation layouts and installation drawings to scale so that we can make an exact product count. Then the CAD specifications are converted into factory orders that allow the manufacture and shipment of products consistent with project schedules and construction progress.

Or you can lay out your workspace yourself, including architectural features and a limited vocabulary of products, using our Windows-based Z-Axis design software. You can visualize these spaces dynamically in 2D or 3D and share your renderings with colleagues via the Internet. And, when you're ready, you can view specifications and order detail, check lead times, and generate error-free orders.

Planning and designing your workspace is a team effort that takes creativity, attention to detail, and a thorough knowledge of your interior space and work processes. That's what Herman Miller Certified Dealer Network members provide, ensuring high-quality products and services for all your locations.

---

For more information

Herman Miller's Certified Dealer Network members work together—contributing knowledge, creativity, and design experience—to make places for our customers to achieve and sustain their business goals. Please visit our website at www.hmcn.com.

---

Creativity. Experience. Solutions.

Herman Miller's Certified Dealer Network.